Beverages Labels

We have been producing many beverage labels and packages in various sizes and shapes over the years. We have enough experience in this field to create qualified, unique and visually excellent labels and packages for all sorts of beverages. Beverage labels are mostly faced with harsh temperature and moisture problems. We will help you through our experience to choose the most suitable types of lamination, varnishing and any other materials which are required to produce the best solution for your product

Industrial Products

We provide self-adhesive labels for automotive, car battery, industrial labels and packages; white appliances and durable consumer goods, electronic items, chemical raw materials, storing labels, barcode labels.

Food Labels

We can assist you in adhesive materials, boxes and packages that are suitable for your special requirements like; temperature, moisture resistance in food product labels and packages. Your food product labels face a lot of competition on store shelves. Every other product is competing for your customer's attention. Graphics, color, fonts, and label material make sure your product gets noticed. Our customer representatives has helped hundreds of customers create successful custom food labels, and their experience can help you too.

Personal Care & Cosmetic

In the highly competitive personal care and cosmetics market, it's essential that your labels stand out in the crowd. We regularly bring new labeling innovations to our customers to make sure your personal care and cosmetics products look their best. These products have different size and shapes. As they are used by squeezing, cream and lotion bottles are subject to some moisture and humidity. The labels must be more resistant and durable in the environments (bag, bathroom and shower) you use them. Attractive graphics and elegant typography are some of the important details shall distinguish you from the others.

Promotion

Promotion is defined as advancement in rank or position, so by definition promotional labels need to stand out and get noticed. Osan Etiket can help with that. We provide a wide range of label materials - from standards like glossy and fluorescent papers, to more exotic films and holographic materials. Whether you need labels on a roll or sheets, we can accommodate your needs.

Household Labels

Our experience in the household market helps us create labels that can maximize your shelf impact while meeting required labeling standards. With over 10,000 cutting tools in stock, we may even have the perfect shape for your household product container ready to go! Its highly possible for your products' label to suffer readability and stickiness problems because of its using conditions. We are ready to serve you to eliminate such possible problem via paper types with lamination, varnishing and different stickiness degrees.

Health Labels

Products in health market must be produced according to the quality requirements and standards. In this market there is no room for error our perfected chain of inspection will cover you from any kind of production errors including the most common one human error. Labels for medical products must meet stringent international guidelines for quality and safety. Similar to labels created for pharmaceutical products, medical labels must be designed and applied so that the labels remain in place. They also must be easy to read, regardless of conditions which may occur during distribution, storage, and use. We've developed the processes and systems to ensure your labels meet these requirements.
